

Being inspired by recent developments in chaos theory, superstrings and subatomic particle physics, I gladly appreciated that the new particle accelerator in Geneva will enable scientists to confirm the existence of Higgs boson - also called „the God particle“.

One night in a very vivid dream I spoke to Stephen Hawking who insisted on my going to China where according to his calculations, Higgs bosons were about to appear around the New Years Eve. I could not decline such calling, even from a lucid dream. I packed my bag and took the next plane to Beijing.

China refused to give away its secrets easily though. After having contracted the infamous Mao's grip I spent few days in high fever and hallucinations without any medication. However, the gods of particle physics must have protected their only envoy in China and granted me their blessings so not only I recovered but also photographed the Higgs boson and ultimately, discovered „morons“.

Glouons, hadrons, preons, leptons and bosons are subatomic particles that all modern scientists know of. However, they haven't yet studied „morons“.

Morons initiated the Big Bang by imploding and exploding at the same time. Morons had been around before the time of our universe and they will stay after it will have collapsed.

That's because morons are ubiquitous and eternal.

The Large Hadron Collider (LHC) at CERN, which came online on 10 September 2008 and is scheduled to become fully operational by late 2009, is expected to provide experimental evidence confirming or refuting the Higgs boson's existence.
